- 1) A sticky situation goes from bad to “getting worse”.
Righteous indignation spreading out like some damn curse.
In the hallways of the capital, in the bedrooms of the land.
Opinions all around on what should happen to the man.

CHORUS: As the office of the President is sullied with deceit.
Everyone is getting theirs.
Cashing in or CATCHING THE HEAT.

2. The world stands by in fascinated wonder of it all.
Voyeurs at the window of a neighbor proud and tall.
Consumed by this mysterious mesmerizing dance.
Out on the edge and swaying in the rhythm of a trance.

CHORUS:

REFRAIN: Someone’s cashing in,
But then someone else is CATCHING THE HEAT.
Fighting for a lead.
When it’s lose or win you’re either cashing in,
or CATCHING THE HEAT.

3. A shadow stalks the nation, big and bad and getting worse.
Righteous indignation spreading out like some damn curse.

And the world is standing by.

CHORUS: As the office of the President is sullied with deceit.
Everyone is getting theirs.
Cashing in or CATCHING THE HEAT.

REFRAIN: Someone’s cashing in,
But then someone else is CATCHING THE HEAT.
Fighting for a lead.
When it’s lose or win you’re either cashing in,
or CATCHING THE HEAT.
